

Idaho Wraparound Intensive Services

What is Wraparound?

Idaho Wraparound Intensive Services (WInS) is a team-based care planning process for youth with serious emotional or behavioral needs. Grounded in a set of core principles, WInS follows a structured format with guided activities that help build trust, strengthen relationships, and develop a system of care tailored to each family. By bringing together a collaborative team, WInS empowers families to move forward with confidence and lasting support.

Who is it for?

WInS is designed for youth who:

- ✓ Have a Child and Adolescent Needs and Strengths (CANS) assessment with an overall level of care of Comprehensive or Intensive;
- ✓ Have involvement or needs in at least 2 or more child serving systems (mental health, juvenile justice, child protection, school, or medical);
- ✓ Have youth and family interest in participating in the wraparound care planning process; and
- ✓ Have a need for intensive care coordination or limited progress with current coordination efforts.

The youth may also:

- ✓ Be at risk of needing out-of-home placement;
- ✓ Need to transition from a higher level of behavioral health such as:
 - Intensive Home and Community-Based Services (IHCBS)
 - Intensive Outpatient (IOP)
 - Partial Hospitalization (PHP)
 - Hospitalization
 - Residential care

How does it help?

- WInS is a team-based, family-driven, and youth-guided planning process designed to support families with complex needs: Build a care plan based on their goals
- Coordinate services in the home and community
- Support the family every step of the way

This high-fidelity, evidence-based program is driven by you and your child's needs.
